This is a great story written by Stuart Heritage and illustrated by Nicola Slater. Read about the magic tricks of Jonathan the Pony which sometimes don't always go to plan!!!!

Rhyme Being able to hear which words rhyme is a very helpful pre-reading skill. In fact, children that are good at recognising rhymes and can make up their own rhymes progress well when they begin to read. There are lots of examples in the book such as moth/sloth, racoon/baboon/spoon!

Introducing New Vocabulary This story is a great way to introduce your child to animals that they might not already know such as moth, sloth, racoon, baboon, chimpanzees and lambs.

Counting There are lots of opportunities for counting backwards.... three, two, one.

What about counting back from larger numbers? There are many number rhymes you could learn together such as Five Little Speckled Frogs
